

More than half of respondents believe that the current economic situation is a challenge for their business.

